FOUR BARNS AND TWO HOUSES HIT

Lightning Does Thousands of Dollars Worth of Damage in Southern Part of County.

HORSES AND GRAIN BURNED

Of Two Farm Homes Hit by Bolt, Only One is Set on Fire—Lightning Hits Milroy School.

One of the worst storms in years visited the southern part of the county, especially in the neighborhood of Milroy, late yesterday afternoon. Much damage was done by lightning, several barns and houses being struck. The storm was confined to the southern part of the county and seemed to center on Milroy. A heavy rain, accompanied by hail, wind and lightning, swept this section.

Two barns at the Thomas Powers farm west of Milroy, were destroyed by fire after being struck by lightning. Two horses perished in the flames and Mr. Powers lost $200 in harness and a large amount of grain and farming implements.

A barn on the Frank Thomas place, which is near the Powers farm, was also hit by lightning and burned. No live stock perished, but the loss was quite heavy as Mr. Thomas had a large amount of grain in the barn and all the farming implements were destroyed. The home of Fred Shellhorn, on the Harlan Overleese farm, was struck by lightning and set on fire. The flames were extinguished before much damage resulted.

Considerable damage was done in Milroy. The new school building was hit by lightning. The northwest corner of the building was struck and a number of brick were knocked out of place. The building did not take fire and the loss is very small. The telephone plant here was put out of commission for some time. Wires were down and the lightning did considerable damage to the interior of the plant.

The storm passed east from Milroy. A house on the Frank McCorkle farm was struck but did not take fire. A barn on the farm of Mrs. Jane Matney near New Salem was destroyed and some live stock and farm implements were lost, but the damage is not known.

Very little rain fell in the eastern and northern part of the county. The hail that accompanied the rain did very little damage.

The lightning put practically every telephone line in the county out of business. In this respect the damage was not confined to the southern part of the county alone.

OLD CASE IS DISMISSED

Surety of Peace Proceedings Dropped in Circuit Court.

The surety of peace proceedings against August Ebbing were dismissed this morning in the circuit court on motion of the prosecuting witness, Walter Kuhn. The case was originally brought in Squire Kratzer's court and taken to the circuit court on an appeal. Kuhn and Ebbing, it will be remembered had trouble over Ebbing's daughter, Lizzie. Kuhn was the guardian when Ebbing took her to his home. Kuhn went there and claimed Ebbing threatened to kill him.

Last night he suffered an attack of the heart and died about one o'clock. His death came as a shock to his many friends as he was out on the streets of Carthage last night. He was well known in Carthage and the northern part of the county. Mr. Stewart was a veteran of the Civil war and served throughout the engagement. He is survived by his widow and two sons, Charles and Edward Stewart, and seven grandchildren. The funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning at ten-thirty o'clock at the Center church by the Rev. S. G. Huntington, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city. Judge Blair, of Shelbyville, will come here Monday to act as special judge in the case of the Kokomo Trust company against Moses and Mary Vandebark, in which notes in the sum of $7,000 are involved. The case was sent here from Henry county and has attracted wide attention. Judge Blair was appointed to hear the case by Judge Megee. During Judge Blair's absence from Shelbyville, J. W. Williams, of Martinsville, will act as judge.

The case is an important one and involves the sale of the Lion department store in Anderson. There are several parties to the suit on both sides. William Turner is the substituted plaintiff and the Second National bank of Richmond is also a party. The guardian for Vandebark is one of the defendants.

Charles Moorman of West Seventh street suffered a stroke of paralysis yesterday afternoon and is in a serious condition.

REVIVAL OF BAND IS CONSIDERED

Demonstration of Popularity of Summer Concerts Last Night Causes Talk to be Renewed.

NEW LEADER MAY BE SECURED

If Band Can Get Small Appropriation For Maintenance, it Will be Reorganized at Once.

Just as it has been demonstrated many times, so it was demonstrated again last night that a band concert is the most popular sort of an amusement in Rushville. The closing feature of the first Big Wednesday of the season was the most enjoyable one in every way.

A large crowd of people was on the streets and motor and horse-drawn vehicles thronged the public square for the concert by the Arlington band. The marked enthusiasm with which the first band concert of the season brought about agitation today for reviving the Rushville band.

It is pointed out that all the Rushville band needs is a little silver stimulant—or the equal of silver in paper money would do just as well. There was a well organized movement started today to finance the Rushville band so that there can be weekly concerts this summer.

"Members of a band in a city of this size," said a business man this morning, "are the best patriots the city have. In addition to working as hard as a day laborer in a hay field, they dig in their pockets and pay out their own money for music and instrument. The great trouble here in Rushville is that the band has been too little appreciated."

"There is not much pleasure in practicing night after night to give one concert, but that is what a band in this city has to do. Furthermore, the band has to make all sorts of sacrifices to keep together during the winter. They have to pay room rent in addition to heat and light bills, as well as keeping up on new music."

The band here has disbanded because of the lack of support. But talk was revived here today of reorganizing because members of the band know where a good leader can be secured. August Cowalt, of Milroy, a musician of ability, it is stated, can be persuaded to direct the work of the Rushville band if a contract can be arranged for playing this summer. All the band needs is a guarantee of maintenance expenses and it will be ready to organize. A few musicians would have to be imported, but a good band could be organized in a short while, it was declared today.

The city council is to be consulted to see if it will appropriate a small sum of money annually to support the band, as is allowed by an Indiana statute. The statute is taken advantage of in many Indiana cities and there is declared to be no reason why Rushville should not do likewise.

The Noblesville, Ind., city council, it is said, appropriates three hundred dollars annually for the support of the band. Only this week the city council of Columbus, Ind., appropriated $140 to build a band stand at Columbus for summer concerts. Further appropriations will be made to support the band.

It was being stated today that it should be a matter of civic pride to have a band in the city. When towns like Arlington can support a good band, it is believed that Rushville at least should have a band. Newcastle and many other cities here in central Indiana lend their support to good ships at any time in the future.

GENERAL TRABUE WILL BE AT HELM

Rushville Man Will Bear Much of Responsibility for International Encampment of U. R. K. of P.

TO BE HELD IN TERRE HAUTE

Terre Haute Star Prints Excellent Likeness of Gen. Trabue With History of His Career.

The Terre Haute Star prints an excellent likeness of Samuel L. Trabue of this city, adjutant general on the staff of Major General Arthur J. Stobbs, commanding the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, of the United States and Canada.

In connection with the picture the Star prints a letter from Mr. Trabue, dealing with arrangements for the international encampment of the U. R. K. of P. which will be held in Terre Haute July 19 to 25. Upon Mr. Trabue's shoulders will fall much of the responsibility for the details of the encampment.

Under Mr. Trabue's picture is given a brief history of his career as a Knight of Pythias. He joined Ivy company No. 35 here in 1904 and the next year was appointed sergeant. In 1907 he was appointed chaplain of the third regiment.

He held that office for four years when, in 1911, he was appointed aide de camp of the staff of General Stobbs. So well pleased with Mr. Trabue's work was General Stobbs that in 1912 he appointed him to his present position of adjutant general. The work of Ivy company is praised in the article. Six months after General Trabue became a member of the company, it won first prize in class C in the encampment at Louisville, Ky. Three years later Ivy company won second at the encampment at Indianapolis.

In spite of Ivy company's enviable record in the competitive drill work, the company has abandoned its plan to enter the drill contest at Terre Haute this year. This decision was made only recently as originally the company planned to try for the prize in one of the classes.

General Trabue has written that Ivy company will drive through in automobiles. This is expected to add pleasure to the trip, as well as is the fact that many members will be accompanied by their wives. General Trabue says there will be at least fifty people from Rushville at the encampment, which will be a very creditable showing for a city of the size of Rushville.

General Trabue has engaged rooms at a Terre Haute hotel preparatory to going to Terre Haute on Thursday or Friday the week before the encampment so as to see that all things are arranged for the big event. Although Terre Haute is smaller than any city which has ever entertained the encampment in years, General Trabue believes that Terre Haute will do the work very creditably.

DOWNSWORKS AMENDMENT

Senate Refuses to Leave Opportunity to Exempt U. S. Ships.

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 11.—The senate this afternoon voted 60 to 36 to down the amendment offered to the tolls exemption bill by Senator Works of California. This amendment provided that the passage of the act and the collection of tolls should not be held as depriving the United States of any right to exempt those ships at any time in the future.

DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Chase Boyd Succumbs to Tuberculosis Near Falmouth.

Mrs. Fanny Boyd, 30 years old, wife of Chase Boyd, died this morning at three o'clock at her home near Falmouth after a long illness from tuberculosis. Mrs. Boyd had been seriously ill for the past few days and death was expected. Mrs. Boyd is survived by her husband and one son, John Boyd. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the Lick Creek church. Burial will take place in the church cemetery.

COURT FOUND FOR HARDY'S WIDOW

Given Judgment on Note in Sum of $191 by Judge Megee—Damage Suit Dismissed.

AGAINST C. H. & D. RAILWAY

Judge Megee found for the plaintiff in the sum of $191.13 this morning in the suit of Amilda Hardy against C. F. Ellison and Julia Ellison. The suit was on a note and the demand was $210. Judge Megee found for Mrs. Ellison and ruled that judgment should be paid by Mr. Ellison. Mrs. Hardy is the widow of William Hardy, who was killed in a traction accident last winter in Indianapolis.

The damage suit of Frank Offutt against the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railway, demanding $303.22 was dismissed on motion of the plaintiff after he had been granted permission to withdraw the pleadings. The case was heard some time ago and the court was to make a special finding of facts. The case involved the shipment of an automobile from Arlington to Racine, Wis. The auto was lost in shipment and Mr. Offutt sued the C. H. & D. railway. It is understood that an agreement was reached and the case dismissed.

PERKINS SAYS HE WILL NOT RETIRE

Chairman of Progressive Executive Committee Will Not Head Attack of Amos Pinchot.

IT'S NO NEWS TO COMMITTEE

(By United Press.)

New York, June 11.—"I have not the slightest intention of retiring as chairman of the executive committee of the Progressive national committee," said George W. Perkins, discussing Amos W. Pinchot's attack on him before starting up the Hudson on a vacation trip.

"What Mr. Pinchot said can not drive me out of the Progressive party," he continued. "I don't think anything will happen as the result of the letter. It was merely an expression of an opinion. He knew how I felt about the matter before he wrote the letter and I know how he felt, so it would not be news to the Progressive committee."

"Do you intend to reply to the letter?" he was interrogated. "No," he replied, "there is no need for any reply."

HE MAY ASK THAT I. U. BE REMOVED

Governor Ralston says Today he is Considering Presenting Question to the Legislature.

WATER FAMINE THREATENED

Governor Declares he Regrets the Apparent Indifference of Bloomington Citizens.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 11.—Governor Ralston today declared that he had about decided to ask the legislature to remove the state university from Bloomington unless that city takes immediate steps to prevent the threatened water famine in that city, which he says would endanger the lives of students.

Governor Ralston was speaking to George N. Cook, president of the Indianapolis Alumni association of Indiana university. He said: "The water situation at Bloomington is very serious. I feel that it can not be trifled with longer. I regret deeply the apparent indifference to this situation on the part of the citizens of Bloomington. I do not want to be harsh in what I say but it seems to me they do not fully consider the injury that may result to the student body, growing out of the water famine if it is allowed to continue."

"I have about made up my mind as governor to ask the legislature to take account of this situation and to remove the university from its present site. I am seriously turning the matter over in my mind."

The public denial of Bloomington's mayor that there is anything the matter with the water supply did not impress the governor.

RAE KRAUSE ASKS PARDON

Woman Who Murdered Step-Daughter Today Appeals to Board.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 11.—Mrs. Rae Krause, through her attorneys, today filed with the state board of pardons a petition for pardon from the woman's prison. She murdered her stepdaughter in 1904. The eyes of the state were on Mrs. Krause who was paroled for ten days to visit her father who was supposed to be sick. She returned to prison unaccompanied at the expiration of the time.

What's the News?

Each line in this newspaper is of interest to some one.

Each has been written and printed with a definite purpose.

To many men and women the most important thing this journal offers for their consideration is the advertising.

It is constructive, helpful, brightly written, often cleverly illustrated. It is all supposed to have a "punch" in it.

It is the news of business—the voice of opportunity.

To overlook reading the advertising is to neglect one of the best features in the newspaper.

Silage May Be Made Out of Many Kinds of Farm Products

Silage during the last three decades has come into general use throughout the United States, especially in these regions where the dairy industry has reached its greatest development. Silage is universally recognized as a good and cheap feed for farm stock, and particularly so for cattle and sheep. The observations made in Farmers' Bulletin 578.

Silage is the best and cheapest form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use, continues the bulletin. An acre of grain can be placed in the silo at a cost not exceeding that of shocking, husking, grinding, and shredding. Crops can be put in the silo during weather that can not be used in making hay or curing fodder, which is an important consideration in some localities.

A given amount of corn in the form of silage will produce more milk than the same amount when shocked and dried. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed, and in addition very palatable. Like other succulent feeds it has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs, and some stock can be kept on a given area of land when it is the basis of the ration.

On account of the smaller cost for labor, silage can be used for supplementing pastures more economically than can soiling crops, unless only a small amount of supplementary feed is required. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land sooner than if the corn crop is shocked and husked, and because of these advantages silage, in the general opinion of dairy farmers, has increased milk production per cow and has increased the profits per acre.

In all parts of the United States where the silo has come into general use the principal silage crop is corn. One reason for this is that ordinarily corn will produce more food material to the acre than any other crop which can be grown. It is more easily harvested and put into the silo than any of the hay crops, such as clover, cowpeas, or alfalfa.

Furthermore, corn makes an excellent quality of silage. The legumes, such as clover and alfalfa, are liable to rot unless special care is taken to pack the silage thoroughly and force the air out. The only objection which has been raised concerning corn silage is the fact that it contains insufficient protein fully to meet the requirements of animals to which it may be fed. The best variety of corn to plant is that which will mature and yield the largest amount of grain to the acre, since the grain is the most valuable part of the corn plant. The variety commonly raised in any particular locality for grain will also be the most satisfactory to grow for silage, be chopped before siloing as a matter of convenience in feeding and also to secure more thorough packing, although it can be placed in the silo without chopping. Clover should be harvested when in full bloom and some of the first heads are dead.

Cowpeas, alfalfa, and soy beans can be successfully made into silage by exercising the same precautions as with clover. They should be cut at the same time as for haymaking. However, it is ordinarily preferable, as with clover, to make them into hay rather than silage. The fermentations which takes place in silage made of legumes cause a great loss of nutritive material than with corn silage. Corn husks and pea vines from canning factories, beet pulp, and other by-products are also used in certain localities for filling the silo.

Corn for the silo can be cut either by hand or by machine. Hand cutting is practiced on farms where the amount of corn to be harvested is so small as to make the expense of purchasing a corn harvester too great to justify its use. Hand cutting is slow and laborious, and there are probably few localities now where the purchase of a harvester would not be a profitable investment.

There are on the market several makes of silage cutters that will give satisfaction. The capacity of the machine to be purchased is an important consideration which should not be overlooked. Many persons make the mistake of getting a cutter which is too small, thus making the operation of filling the silo very slow and interfering with the continuous employment of the entire force of men. It is better to get a machine large enough, so that every one will be able to keep busy all the time. The larger cutters are equipped with self-feeders, a labor-saving device which the smaller sizes lack.

The usual length of cutting varies

from one-half to 1-inch. The latter is considered a little too long, since pieces of this length will neither pack so closely in the silo nor be so completely consumed when fed as will be shorter lengths. On the other hand, the longer the pieces the more rapidly can the corn be run through the cutter.

In case the corn has become too dry or ripe before it is put into the silo, water should be added to supply the deficiency of moisture necessary to make the silage pack properly. Unless it is well packed the silage will "fire-fang" or deteriorate through the growth of mold. Enough water should be added to restore the moisture content of the corn to what it would be if cut at the proper stage. The water may be added by running directly into the silo by means of a hose or by running through the blower. It is claimed that by running it into the blower the water is more thoroughly mixed with the cut corn.

TWO WOMEN FIGHT FOR SAME CHILD

Court Will Decide on Rightful Motherhood in Case in Superior Court in Indianapolis.

NURSE MAY BE PRODUCED

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, June 11.—The spectacle of two women claiming motherhood of the same child may again be presented here if Judge Collier in superior court overrules the demurrer to a complaint. He now has under advisement arguments on the demurrer, and is expected to decide the matter the latter part of this week or the first of next.

In her complaint, Mrs. Leona A. Batty declares that a 4-year-old child she calls Bernard R. Batty, Jr., is the son of her former husband, Bernard R. Batty, and she asks that the court establish the legitimacy of the child and force Batty "Sr." to support him. In a previous decision after Mrs. Batty and a girl from Eaton both had laid claim to the child, the court ruled that the child was not the son of Mrs. Batty. At that time Batty asserted that Mrs. Batty had procured the child, assumed motherhood, all in hopes that by so doing she might win back his affection and persuade him to live with her.

Eph Imman, attorney for Mrs. Batty, asserts that there is new evidence that warrants a new trial. He says that the woman who served as nurse when the baby was born has been found. The Eaton girl's story was that the child was born to her while she was an inmate of the Door of Hope, a fondling institution here.

and have every style buggy known to the best vehicle builders in the country. We have large, roomy buggies that are low down and easy to get in and out of and then we have them for the young folks (we don't mean baby carriages) and middle aged people. In fact, we have buggies to meet every requirement of all kinds of buggy users. There is no use for us to tell you of their quality, perhaps you have already found that out by using one, or if not you can ask your neighbor and he will tell you how they wear. You take no chances when you buy from us because we guarantee every buggy we sell and guarantee it an honest one, and one that is always good. We believe that an honest guarantee gives us the good will of our customers and when a merchant loses the good will of his customers he is flirting with the commercial undertaker. Let us fit you out with your next buggy and you will always be glad you did it.

Progressive Pork Barrel

It remains for the future to tell whether the Progressive party is willing to be separated from its pork barrel. There is a well organized movement to oust George W. Perkins, the man who formed the harvester trust and who has been actively identified with big business interests the last decade.

Perkins is a close personal friend of Theodore Roosevelt. He has already been at a conference at Sagamore Hill since the former president returned from his new river discovering trip in South America. It was common political rumor that Perkins furnished a good bit of the money with which Theodore Roosevelt made trips by special train across the country fighting to tear down the Republican party and establish the Progressive party.

Perkins said in the campaign of 1912 that he stood for the Progressive party and backed it with his money because he wanted to make this country a better place in which to rear his children. This comment was the subject of much ridicule. Some Progressives never have taken him seriously, and among those are the Pinchots. Amos Pinchot has just expressed his opinions. In an open letter to Perkins, who is chairman of the national executive committee of the party, Pinchot demands that he retire as chairman "for the good of the party."

Pinchot evidently thinks Perkins is not boosting the cause of Theodore Roosevelt for his health, nor to make this country a better place for his children to live in. Pinchot says Perkins favors the protection of private monopoly "and since the party's formation active steps have been taken to commit the party to that policy."

So it is a rather interesting quarrel as it stands. In the meantime the Republicans in the state are showing new life, and the Democrats are beginning to make plans for their campaign. On the whole, it is a very much mixed up situation. No one pretends to predict what will come out of it in November. The politicians in the state are all studying with considerable anxiety the following symposium of figures from 1912 to 1914:

1912 votes for Governor, Republican, 444,105; Progressive, 393,183; 1914 enrollment Republican, 526,000; Progressive, 111,000.

The Progressives in Washington are of the opinion that no candidate the Progressives could put up in the state this fall, with the exception of Roosevelt himself, could hope to poll more than 100,000 votes. They admit that a showing of this sort in the Empire state would be the last of the Bull Moose party there.

Looking at the suggestion that Roosevelt lead the party this fall these Progressives point out that if he should fail of election, his hopes for 1916, if he still has any, would be blasted. It does seem to be a fact that the "true blue" Bull Moosers—the really and truly loyal friends of Roosevelt—will advise him on his return from Spain to keep off the New York ticket. They think he ought to be in a position to make a sort of nation-wide speaking campaign this fall; they have a notion that if he should tie himself down to his own state "the cause" might suffer elsewhere.

Unless all the political prophets are mistaken, there is going to be a lot of maneuvering on the part of certain Bull Moose leaders to get back into the Republican party. It is apparent to most observers that the effort of the Progressive leaders at this time is to hold a reasonable number of their followers, so that they may have some basis for making terms with the party they left.

ARE GIVING MORE SPACE TO WOMEN

Federation of Women's Clubs Encourages Newspapers, According to Grace Julian Clarke

EVERY STATE IS "COVERED"

Publicity is Necessary When Civic and Social Reforms are Considered—Address at Chicago

(By United Press.)

Chicago, June 11.—Newspapers are steadily giving more and more space to women, and the press committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs is encouraging them in this—is seeking publicity—according to the report of Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke of Indianapolis to the general federation today. Mrs. Clarke is chairman of the press committee of the federation.

After outlining the system whereby every state in the union is "covered" by the press committee, Mrs. Clarke said:

"The steadily growing disposition on the part of the press to publish news of the General Federation, as well as the rapidly multiplying club departments in leading newspapers throughout the country, have abundantly justified our venture in seeking wider publicity."

Mrs. Clarke said that while the organization was of literary bent, devoted to self culture, there was little need of publicity, but that when the federation turned to civic and social reform publicity was necessary and wise.

"While this organization was composed almost entirely of Literary clubs whose sole object was self-culture, there was no occasion for heralding abroad its performances, however creditable. Even when it entered upon a somewhat broader field and undertook to make itself felt as an educational force, it seemed sufficient to publish its activities in its own magazine and in the few state club organs. But when the General Federation turned its attention so largely to civic and social reform, when it became a potent influence in national legislative halls and began to be recognized as one of the active agencies for bringing about improved living conditions in the home but in the larger world outside—then the hour had struck for its systematic and dignified exploitation as one of the great formative and regenerative forces of our time," she said.

GIANTS BID FOR FOURTH PENNANT

If New York Captures Flag in National for Fourth Time it Will Establish Precedent

HANDED IT TO PITTSBURG

At Present Fight in American is Between Washington and Philadelphia—Quimet Looks Good

BY HAL SHERRIDAN.

(Written for the United Press)

New York, June 11.—Unless the dope is all wrong, it is now generally conceded it will be New York or Pittsburgh in the National League and Philadelphia or Washington in the American.

The law of precedent appears to be the only thing at this writing, against which the McGraw Giants must back. No team in the National League has ever won four straight league pennants. Some years back, Fred Clark and his pirates were headed for their fourth successive streamer. The Giants scuttled the Corsair crew. Now the Pittsburghers are doing their damndest to return the compliment, but, though Clark has a grand little team, up to early in June it hadn't been there in the pinch.

The first rending, tearing clash with the Giants late in May when New York fairly routed the Pirates, and then the smearing the latter got at the hands of Charlie Horrox's resuscitated Cincinnatians, was an exhibition of the heart the Pittsburgh aggregation hasn't got or at least didn't have up to that time, and which is essential to running in front at the close of the 154-game schedule.

There was no other possible alibi. The Clark crew was in prime shape. It had ripped its way through all the other teams it had met. It had shown everything except what it could do when it bucked above-the-average class. When that grade of class tore into Pittsburgh in the shape of the Giants, the erstwhile irresistible force was halted, stopped and stayed. And that's the dope in the National League. But its pure dope.

Now for the fireworks in the American. What follows is not for Washingtonians to read. Everybody in the Capital has already picked out just where they're going to sit when in their own minds, the Senators meet the National League winners next fall. Any Washingtonian who reads this won't believe it. But it's DOPE.

It's perfectly true that Clark Griffith has Walter Johnson. There is also Mile-a-minute Milan, Base-Grabber Gandil, and others of their ilk; not to mention George McBride, who seldom causes any sparks, but who generally is conceded to be the greatest short-stop in the game today. But (and we must hedge once more behind the dope alibi) according to dope, Connie Mack has class he totes about the country with him. With the exception of his pitching staff, which had not come up to expectations. Early this month he has the same old crowd, doing the same old stunts.

Thus this Washington-Philadelphia argument simmer down to a comparison of the Griffithian-Mackian pitching departments. Bender is far from gone and there may be quite a few worrying splinters left in Plank, but neither is what he used to be. Mack must depend on his younger pitchers, Bush, Shawey, Pennoek, et al. for the brunt of his battle. Griffith has the winning Walter, Ayres, Shaw and Engel who have shown more stuff than the young Mack twirlers.

All in all, it must be conceded to the rabid Washington fan, that the Washington-Philadelphia fight for the first place should furnish as pretty a knock-down and drag-out as has ever been staged in either league.

Our golfers still have a chance to get back at the Britishers, but even if they don't, Francis Quimet will carry home with him and wear for one year the French title. After the young man's drubbing, with the drubbing given the other American golfers, at Sandwich, he crossed the channel and led the field in France. The open Championship in England furnishes another try for Quimet and the others. Here's hoping that when they heard Vardon and Ray and the other golfing lions in their homes, the Stars and Stripes will have better luck. To beat Vardon and Ray a second time will be more of a triumph than to have won at Sandwich.

The Sport of Kings is far from dead in Little Old New York and vicinity. This has been demonstrated at Belmont Park. Twelve months ago even the most sanguine could see nothing in the way of a come-back for the racing game. If the sport is kept in the wholesome condition in which it started, the "good old days" should return.

And speaking of come-backs, Cornell has done something in athletics this year. The winning of the Inter-collegiate at Harvard, which meant permanent possession of the coveted championship cup, was indeed a triumph. It was another triumph for Trainer Jack Moakley and his methods. Cornell also has shown her power on the diamond and on water. From present indications, the Ithicans should bring home the bacon at Poughkeepsie.

CASE IS REFERRED TO PARDON BOARD

Paul Walters of Jay County Convicted of Stealing Automobile, Depends on This for Acquittal.

TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

Indianapolis, June 11.—Governor Ralston has referred to the pardon board the petition of Paul W. Walters, member of a prominent family of Jay county who has been convicted of stealing an auto of Victor Thornburg, a chauffeur of Union City.

Temporary insanity is Walters' defense. On a recent visit to the Governor's office he told the Governor he didn't remember a thing that occurred during his wild ride from Union City to Bloomington following the theft. He drove the machine at high speed a distance of nearly 150 miles, though he now asserts he never before in his life had driven an automobile. He asserts that he is sane now.

Walters represented himself to be a prosperous North Dakota farmer looking for an automobile. He was driven into the country by the demonstrator, bound him to a tree, stuffed a handkerchief into his mouth and then drove away. He tried to sell the car for $400. The case attracted statewide attention.

CRIME RECALLED BY ANNIVERSARY

Fifty-one Years Passed Since John Frank Stevens Was Killed From Ambush at Moscow.

WAS DURING THE REBELLION

The Greensburg News recalls that Tuesday was the fifty-first anniversary of a dastardly crime at Moscow, which resulted in talk of lynching the Moscow man who was suspected of the shooting. It happened during the rebellion. The government had passed a draft law after volunteers had been exhausted.

John Frank Stevens, a United States Deputy marshal pursuant to the order of the Government had gone to Moscow to enforce the draft law among a certain element that failed to heed their county's call in such a crisis. While in the discharge of this work he was assassinated, being shot from ambush. The cowardly assassin made his escape, but public suspicion rested upon certain people residing in that vicinity. There was no hushing of the threatened mob law, in case he could be caught, the older citizens recalling those stirring days, assert that reason would have been swept aside and the power of might, enforced by many, would have sent the ambusher to a quick end had he been caught.

MAY GO BEYOND THE LOCAL LAWS

Opinion by Attorney General Says State Fire Marshal Has Larger Powers Than Believed.

THE LAW IMPOSES THE DUTY

It is Possible For Him to Make Additional Requisitions if it's Found They're Needed.

In the opinion of the attorney general, Thomas M. Honan, the State fire marshal is empowered by law to go beyond the local ordinances and regulations pertaining to fire preventive measures in any community, and, if he deems it necessary, make further provisions and regulations.

This interpretation of the fire marshal law was sought in order to define clearly the State fire marshal's authority in prescribing such regulations, since the need for such action frequently arises.

Attorney General Honan's opinion is emphatic in defining the fire marshal's authority and has the backing of a similar opinion given recently by Attorney General Carmody of New York.

"The State fire marshal law," says Mr. Honan in his opinion, "gives the marshal large powers and imposes upon him duties that are compulsory with reference to the prevention of fires. Section two specifically provides that the State fire marshal shall enforce all laws of the State and the ordinances of the various cities and towns in Indiana with reference to the prevention of fires, storage, sale and use of combustibles and explosives, and installation and maintenance of automatic or other fire alarm systems and fire extinguishing equipments, and the suppression of arson and investigation of the cause, origin and circumstances of fires.

"This section refers wholly to the laws of the State, and the ordinances of the municipalities, and in addition the law also requires the fire marshal to investigate the cause, origin and circumstance of every fire, and further empowers said fire marshal to make regulations pertaining thereto, which are additional to the ordinances of the various municipalities.

"In other words, it is not only the duty of the fire marshal to enforce all the ordinances of the various municipalities as he finds them, but it is also his duty to make regulations pertaining to fire prevention, and to enforce these regulations with the same degree of certainty that he enforces local ordinances.

"Should the fire marshal conclude that a local ordinance does not fully cover matters pertaining to fire prevention, then in addition to requiring persons to comply with said local ordinances, they can also be compelled to comply with any additional and further regulations which the fire marshal shall deem necessary."

This interpretation of the law shows that not only has the fire marshal the power and authority to make and enforce new regulations in any community, but, also, that it is his duty to do so.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

FOR THE MAID WHO SWIMS AND HER SMALL SISTER

Perhaps no garment in the summer wardrobe requires more care and attention than the bathing suit, whether for swimming or just a dip with a hand on the rope.

Materials for these suits should be chosen with the greatest care, especially if they are intended for an entire season's service. Satin sheds water and looks well; moire and taffetas are excellent too if a very good quality is used otherwise both will prove unsatisfactory. Cravenetted mohair is one of the most satisfactory materials for the bathing suit. It is shown in the suit illustrated here (7631), with collar and trimming bands of a striped silk. The suit is in drop-shoulder style, closing at the side front and has a three-piece skirt. For size 36, this model requires 5½ yards of 36-inch material.

It is well to protect the little tot who merely paddles and plays around the beach with a thin flannel which may be brightened with narrow mohair braid and colored buttons.

This little suit (8377) is developed in dark blue flannel and trimmed with scarlet wool braid and red bone buttons. Underwaist and bloomers are in one piece and the blouse is in long-waisted effect with a low-hung, braid trimmed belt of the material. For a child of eight, this design requires 3½ yards of 36-inch flannel.

STATE OWES NEW HARMONY MUCH

Governor Ralston Speaks of Indiana's Debt to Pioneers at Centennial Celebration.

PRAISES ROBERT DALE OWEN

Finds Much to Commend in Teachings of This Worshiper at the Shrine Truth.

New Harmony, Ind., June 11.—The heat yesterday almost spoiled the celebration of Indiana day at the centennial here. Senators Kern and Shively were billed to speak, but were unable to come. There was a large crowd of people, but very few heard Governor Ralston, who cut his speech half in two. He spoke of the debt Indiana owes New Harmony.

"I understand," the governor declared, "you have designated this day as Indiana day in your celebration. I deem it very appropriate to inquire if as a state we have to any extent shaped our course by any of the teachings of Robert Owen. We have his word for it that he was anxious to eliminate ignorance and selfishness—a most laudable ambition we will admit, but one that calls for the changing of human nature as certainly as would the consummation of his desire to remove all cause for contest between individuals."

"But I am not to criticize. I prefer on Indiana day to find something to commend in the teachings of this worshiper at the shrine of truth—this apostle of equality, liberty and fraternity. And here is something he has said that the citizens of a free government, where the voice of the people is all powerful, should take to heart if he wants to see man's condition improved:

"The religion of truth teaches the science of the influence of circumstances over human nature; and that good and rational circumstances will produce good and rational men and women, while inferior or bad circumstances as certainly produce inferior, bad and irrational men and women."

"Indiana has recognized the soundness of this principle in the enactment of her housing law by the last Legislature. When she passed this law she did not look to the comfort only of the occupants of the tenements, but she had in mind also the development of their morals and the building of their characters. She believed that the water they drank, the air they breathed and the home and social comforts they enjoy bore directly upon the citizenship they developed.

"And when Indiana observes, before long, public health or clean-up day, as it is planned to do, when with propriety pay respect to the memory of Robert Owen. Thomas Jefferson wanted to be remembered as the author of the Declaration of American Independence, as the author of the statutes of Virginia and as the father of the University of Virginia. Every board of health is a recognition of Robert Owen as a public benefactor. His doctrine of environment alone makes his fame forever secure.

"But you may toss to the winds everything Robert Owen ever taught as faulty and hurtful to society and still he will retain a warm place in the hearts of Indiana people, even unto the latest generations. His four brilliant and public spirited sons will keep his memory fresh in this state.

"As a member of Indiana's constitutional convention of 1850, Robert Dale Owen rendered services of inestimable value to the public. His father was widely known as the founder of infant schools, the opponent of child labor, and the pioneer in this country of rational education; and this in a way added strength to the son in his advocacy of constitutional recognition of the rights of women and the great principle of free schools, of education 'without money and without price' as they were embodied in the organic law of our state.

"In the legislation following the adoption of our present constitution he was the knightly leader in securing to woman through statutory enactments what in morals and justice were her property rights, and then he proceeded to shield her against undue entreaty and influence by making non-enforceable her contracts of surety. Upon his brilliant achievements in these respects the London Times paid him the tribute of saying, 'Indiana has attained the highest civilization of any state in the Union.' And, my friends, I like to believe, that in all the twelve years that have followed this declaration of the London Times, our beloved state has not lost her proud position in the sisterhood of states.

"Duty to society and to the state meant more to him than did loyalty to party. This is why he was willing to abandon theories and surrender policies and stand with Lincoln, with whom he was not in sympathy politically, for the preservation of the Union. His letter appealing to the overburdened President for the liberation of the negro affected the latter as no other plea had done. It was thought by those who were in a position to know what the most potent personal influence moving the President to issue the emancipation argument in support of such a course."

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."

Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.

WILSON DEALS OUT SOME OPTIMISM

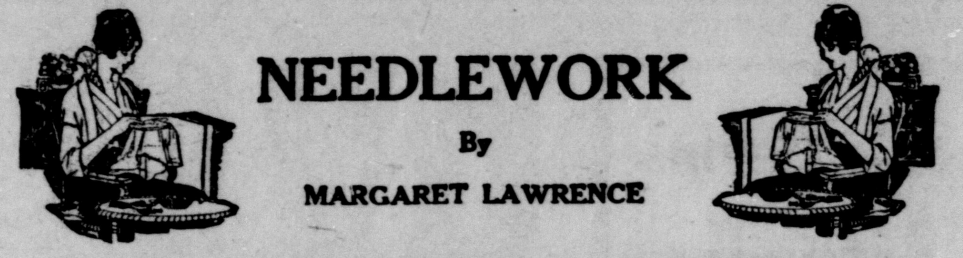

Secretary of Labor Predicts it will be "Menless Jobs, not Jobless Men" Very Soon

REASONS FOR HIS PROPHECY

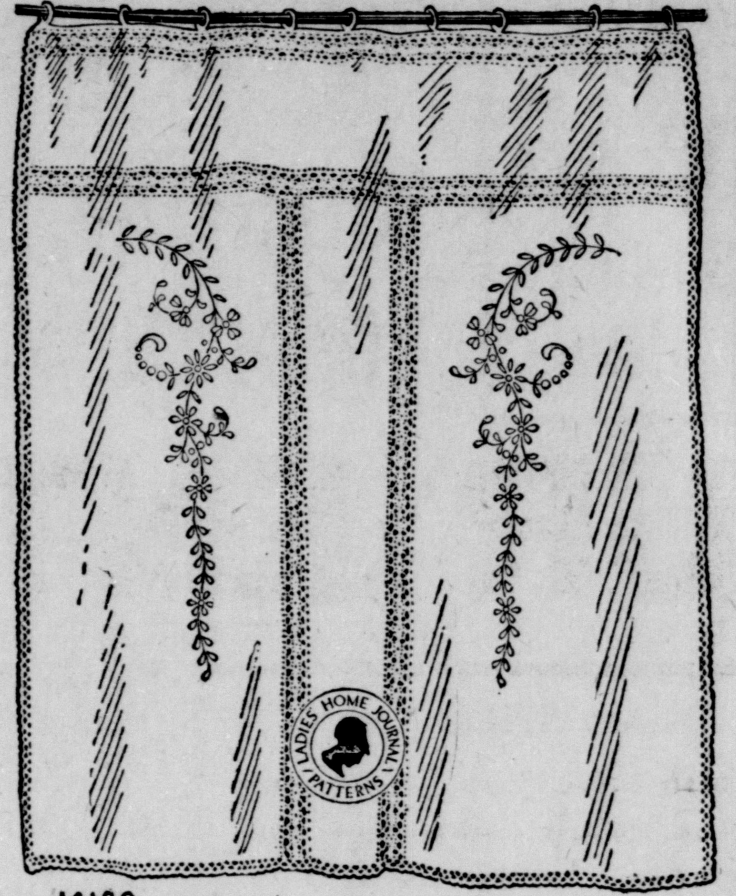

(By United Press.)
Washington, June 11.—Secretary of Labor Wilson, sizing up the labor situation today said in the near future it would be "menless jobs not jobless men," through the United States. The calls for over 80,000 to harvest the bumper wheat crop that have reached his department, revival of the iron trade and stimulation of the mining and textile business were his reasons for the prophecy.

Wilson said he is planning to arrange with the railroads for special excursions to the wheat belt, giving men in the east and middlewest an equal chance with those who are now in the west.

"Such a plan would give thousands of men a chance for a rural vacation with plenty of money," he said.

They are suitable for use on curtains, sideboard-covers, bureau-scarfs, lingerie pillows and sheets. Solid work, Wallachian stitch and eyelets may be combined effectively in carrying out this design.

WEDDING TODAY VERY BRILLIANT

Miss Belle Wyatt Willard and Kermit Roosevelt Are United in Marriage at Madrid, Spain.

CEREMONY IS AT HIGH NOON

Spanish Officialdom and Aristocracy, Together with Diplomatic Corps, Are Guests.

(By United Press.)

Madrid, Spain, June 11.—A brilliant gathering comprising the elite of Spanish officialdom and aristocracy, together with practically all the members of the diplomatic corps and their ladies, witnessed the marriage today of Miss Belle Wyatt Willard, daughter of Joseph E. Willard, American Ambassador to Spain, and Kermit Roosevelt, son of Col. Roosevelt, ex-President of the United States. The bridegroom's father came over from New York to attend the wedding. The ceremony, which took place at noon in the British Embassy Chapel, was performed by the Rev. Herbert Brown, chaplain of the British Embassy in Madrid. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Willard, as maid of honor, and by the following bridesmaids: Her Serene Highness the Princess Folla of Thurn and Taxis, daughter of Prince Ratibor, of German Ambassador in Madrid; Miss Katherine Page, daughter of the American Ambassador in London; Mile. Gilene le Venour de Tillieres, of Paris, and Miss Virginia Christian, of Richmond, Va. Following a brief honeymoon on the Continent, the young couple will leave for Brazil to establish their future home at San Paulo, where Kermit Roosevelt is engaged in the railroad business.

The bride, now 21, was one of the most attractive girls in the younger social set at Richmond, the family home of the Willards, where she made her debut two years ago. While en route with her mother and younger sister last February to join her father at his new post she was presented at the Court of St. James in London, and upon her arrival here she quickly became a general favorite in Spanish society. Kermit Roosevelt, 24 years old, has seen considerably more of the world than usually falls to the lot of young men of his age. After returning from the big game hunt in Africa with his father in 1910 he went out West on a mountain sheep shooting expedition. Following his graduation from Harvard in 1912 he made a visit in England and later took up railroad work in South America. Last winter he accompanied Col. Roosevelt on his hunting, exploring, and river-discovering trip in the Amazon country, coming direct from Brazil to this city, where he arrived three weeks ago. Kermit met his future wife through the good offices of his sister Mrs. Richard Derby, then Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who had become a great chum of Miss Willard's during a sojourn at Hot Springs, Va. Ethel took her new friend to Oyster Bay, where Kermit speedily fell a victim to her charms.

NEW YORK MEN FURNISH MONEY

Representative Ainey Says Constitutionalists Will be Amply Rewarded if They Win.

HOLDS HUERTA BLAMELESS

Seattle, Wash., June 11.—"The state department has a trunk full of Mexican consular reports detailing Constitutionalists victories. If published, the government would not be permitted to espouse the cause of the Constitutionalists."

Representative Ainey of Pennsylvania, one of the principal congressional critics of the Wilson administration Mexican policy, made this statement here today on his arrival on his way to the coast for a trip to Japan.

"There is really no reason to believe General Huerta cannived in the assassination of President Madero," he said.

BOMB EXPLODED BY SUFFAGETTES

Touch it Off Under Coronation Chair in Westminster Abbey and Stone of Scone Was Chipped.

IT IS A PRE-HISTORIC RELIC

(By United Press.)

London, Eng., June 11.—Suffragettes today exploded a bomb under the Coronation chair in Westminster Abbey. It is reported that the Stone of Scone was chipped, but that otherwise no serious damage was done.

No arrests of the suffragettes were made. The police at once threw a cordon around the famous abbey, but so far as is known no arrests have been made by them.

The Stone of Scone is the most famous relic of pre-historic days. The explosion was heard in parliament.

Some Words.

"Panle" is named after the ancient god Pan because of the sudden and unreasoning fear which the sight of this heathen divinity was supposed to inspire. Other common words with a similar source in the old mythologies are "vulcanite," from Vulcan, the blacksmith; "martial," for Mars, the warrior; "jovial," from Jove; "saturnine," from Saturn, and "mercurial," from Mercury, the nimble beed.

Strange Neglect.

"What's that?" asked the old settler.

FOUR BARNS AND TWO HOUSES HIT

Lightning Does Thousands of Dollars Worth of Damage in Southern Part of County.

HORSES AND GRAIN BURNED

Of Two Farm Homes Hit by Bolt,
Only One is Set on Fire—Lightning Hits Milroy School.

One of the worst storms in years visited the southern part of the county, especially in the neighborhood of Milroy, late yesterday afternoon.
Much damage was done by lightning, several barns and houses being struck. The storm was confined to the southern part of the county and seemed to center on Milroy. A heavy rain, accompanied by hail, wind and lightning, swept this section.

Two barns at the Thomas Powers farm west of Milroy, were destroyed by fire after being struck by lightning.
Two horses perished in the flames and Mr. Powers lost $260 in harness and a large amount of grain and farming implements.

A barn on the Frank Thomas place, which is near the Powers farm, was also hit by lightning and burned. No live stock perished, but the loss was quite heavy as Mr. Thomas had a large amount of grain in the barn and all the farming implements were destroyed. The home of Fred Shell-horn, on the Harlan Overbeese farm, was struck by lightning and set on fire. The flames were extinguished before much damage resulted.

Considerable damage was done in Milroy. The new school building was hit by lightning. The northwest corner of the building was struck and a number of brick were knocked out of place. The building did not take fire and the loss is very small. The telephone plant here was part out of commission for some time.
Wires were down and the lightning did considerable damage to the interior of the plant.

The storm passed east from Milroy. A house on the Frank Mc-Cordle farm was struck but did not take fire. A barn on the farm of Mrs. Jane Matney near New Salem was destroyed and some live stock and farm implements were lost, but the damage is not known.

Very little rain fell in the eastern and northern part of the county. The hail that accompanied the rain did very little damage.

The lightning put practically every telephone line in the county out of business. In this respect the damage was not confined to the southern part of the county alone.

REVIVAL OF BAND IS CONSIDERED

Demonstration of Popularity of Summer Concerts Last Night
Causes Talk to be Renewed.

NEW LEADER MAY BE SECURED

If Band Can Get Small Appropriation For Maintenance, it Will be Reorganized at Once.

Just as it has been demonstrated many times, so it was demonstrated again last night that a band concert is the most popular sort of an amusement in Rushville. The closing feature of the first Big Wednesday of the season was the most enjoyable one in every way.

A large crowd of people was on the streets and motor and horse-drawn vehicles thronged the public square for the concert by the Arlington band. The marked enthusiasm with which the first band concert of the season brought about agitation today for reviving the Rushville band.

It is pointed out that all the Rushville band needs is a little silver stimulant—or the equal of silver in paper money would do just as well. There was a well organized movement started today to finance the Rushville band so that there can be weekly concerts this summer.

"Members of a band in a city of this size," said a business man this morning, "are the best patriots the city have. In addition to working as hard as a day laborer in a hay field, they dig in their pockets and pay out their own money for music and instrument. The great trouble here in Rushville is that the band has been too little appreciated."

"There is not much pleasure in practicing night after night to give one concert, but that is what a band this city has to do. Furthermore, the band has to make all sorts of sacrifices to keep together during the winter. They have to pay room rent in addition to heat and light bills, as well as keeping up on new music."

The band here has disbanded because of the lack of support. But talk was revived here today of reorganizing because members of the band know where a good leader can be secured. August Cowall, of Milroy, a musician of ability, it is stated, can be persuaded to direct the work of the Rushville band if a contract can be arranged for playing this summer. All the band needs is a guarantee of maintenance expenses and it will be ready to organize. A few musicians would have to be imported, but a good band could be organized in a short while, it was declared today.

The city council is to be consulted to see if it will appropriate a small sum of money annually to support the band, as is allowed by an Indiana statute. The statute is taken advantage of in many Indiana cities and there is declared to be no reason why Rushville should not do likewise.

The Noblesville, Ind., city council, it is said, appropriates three hundred dollars annually for the support of the band. Only this week the city council of Columbus, Ind., appropriated $140 to build a band stand at Columbus for summer concerts.
Further appropriations will be made to support the band.

It was being stated today that it should be a matter of civic pride to have a band in the city. When towns like Arlington can support a good band, it is believed that Rushville at least should have a band. Newcastle and many other cities here in central Indiana lend their support to good bands.

GENERAL TRABUE WILL BE AT HELM

Rushville Man Will Bear Much of Responsibility for International Encampment of U. R. K. of P.

TO BE HELD IN TERRE HAUTE

Terre Haute Star Prints Excellent Likeness of Gen. Trabue With History of His Career.

The Terre Haute Star prints an excellent likeness of Samuel L. Trabue of this city, adjutant general on the staff of Major General Arthur J.
Stobhart, commanding the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, of the United States and Canada.

In connection with the picture the Star prints a letter from Mr. Trabue, dealing with arrangements for the international encampment of the U. R. K. of P. which will be held in Terre Haute July 19 to 25. Upon Mr. Trabue's shoulders will fall much of the responsibility for the details of the encampment.

Under Mr. Trabue's picture is given a brief history of his career as a Knight of Pythias. He joined Ivy company No. 35 here in 1904 and the next year was appointed sergeant.
In 1907 he was appointed chaplain of the third regiment.

He held that office for four years when, in 1911, he was appointed aide de camp of the staff of General Stobhart. So well pleased with Mr.
Trabue's work was General Stobhart that in 1912 he appointed him to his present position of adjutant general.
The work of Ivy company is praised in the article. Six months after General Trabue became a member of the company, it won first prize in class C in the encampment at Louisville, Ky. Three years later Ivy company won second at the encampment at Indianapolis.

In spite of Ivy company's enviable record in the competitive drill work, the company has abandoned its plan to enter the drill contest at Terre Haute this year. This decision was made only recently as originally the company planned to try for the prize in one of the classes.

General Trabue has written that Ivy company will drive through in automobiles. This is expected to add pleasure to the trip, as well as is the fact that many members will be accompanied by their wives. General Trabue says there will be at least fifty people from Rushville at the encampment, which will be a very creditable showing for a city of the size of Rushville.

General Trabue has engaged rooms at a Terre Haute hotel preparatory to going to Terre Haute on Thursday or Friday the week before the encampment so as to see that all things are arranged for the big event. Although Terre Haute is smaller than any city which has ever entertained the encampment in years, General Trabue believes that Terre Haute will do the work very creditably.

States of any right to exempt those

COURT FOUND FOR HARDY'S WIDOW

Given Judgment on Note in Sum of $191 by Judge Megee—Damage Suit Dismissed.

AGAINST C. H. & D. RAILWAY

Judge Megee found for the plaintiff in the sum of $191.13 this morning in the suit of Amilla Hardy against C. F. Ellison and Julia Ellison. The suit was on a note and the demand was $210. Judge Megee found for Mrs. Ellison and ruled that judgment should be paid by Mr.
Ellison. Mrs. Hardy is the widow of William Hardy, who was killed in a traction accident last winter in Indianapolis.

The damage suit of Frank Offutt against the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railway, demanding $303.22 was dismissed on motion of the plaintiff after he had been granted permission to withdraw the pleadings. The case was heard some time ago and the court was to make a special finding of facts. The case involved the shipment of an automobile from Arlington to Racine, Wis.
The auto was lost in shipment and Mr. Offutt sued the C. H. & D. railway. It is understood that an agreement was reached and the case dismissed.

PERKINS SAYS HE WILL NOT RETIRE

Chairman of Progressive Executive Committee Will Not Head Attack of Amos Pinchot.

IT'S NO NEWS TO COMMITTEE

(By United Press.)

New York, June 11.—"I have not the slightest intention of retiring as chairman of the executive committee of the Progressive national committee," said George W. Perkins, discussing Amos W. Pinchot's attack on him before starting up the Hudson on a vacation trip.

"What Mr. Pinchot said can not drive me out of the Progressive party," he continued. "I don't think anything will happen as the result of the letter. It was merely an expression of an opinion. He knew how I felt about the matter before he wrote the letter and I know how he felt, so it would not be news to the Progressive committee."

"Do you intend to reply to the letter?" he was interrogated.
"No," he replied, "there is no need for any reply."

HE MAY ASK THAT I. U. BE REMOVED

Governor Ralston says Today he is Considering Presenting Question to the Legislature.

WATER FAMINE THREATENED

Governor Declares he Regrets the Apparent Indifference of Bloomington Citizens.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 11.—(Governor Ralston today declared that he had about decided to ask the legislature to remove the state university from Bloomington unless that city takes immediate steps to prevent the threatened water famine in that city, which he says would endanger the lives of students.

Governor Ralston was speaking to George N. Cook, president of the Indianapolis Alumni association of Indiana university. He said: "The water situation at Bloomington is very serious. I feel that it can not be trifled with longer. I regret deeply the apparent indifference to this situation on the part of the citizens of Bloomington. I do not want to be harsh in what I say but it seems to me they do not fully consider the injury that may result to the student body, growing out of the water famine if it is allowed to continue."

"I have about made up my mind as governor to ask the legislature to take account of this situation and to remove the university from its present site. I am seriously turning the matter over in my mind."

The public denial of Bloomington's mayor that there is anything the matter with the water supply did not impress the governor.

the woman's prison. She murdered her stepdaughter in 1904. The eyes

Silage May Be Made Out of Many Kinds of Farm Products

Silage during the last three decades has come into general use throughout the United States, especially in these regions where the dairy industry has reached its greatest development. Silage is universally recognized as a good and cheap feed for farm stock, and particularly so for cattle and sheep, are the observations made in Farmers' Bulletin 578.

Silage is the best and cheapest form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use, continues the bulletin. An acre of grain can be placed in the silo at a cost not exceeding that of shocking, husking, grinding, and shredding. Crops can be put in the silo during weather that can not be used in making hay or curing fodder, which is an important consideration in some localities.

A given amount of corn in the form of silage will produce more milk than the same amount when shocked and dried. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed, and in addition very palatable. Like other succulent feeds it has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs, and some stock can be kept on a given area of land when it is the basis of the ration.

On account of the smaller cost for labor, silage can be used for supplementing pastures more economically than can soiling crops, unless only a small amount of supplementary feed is required. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land sooner than if the corn crop is shocked and husked, and because of these advantages silage, in the general opinion of dairy farmers, has increased milk production per cow and has increased the profits per acre.

In all parts of the United States where the silo has come into general use the principal silage crop is corn. One reason for this is that ordinarily corn will produce more food material to the acre than any other crop which can be grown. It is more easily harvested and put into the silo than any of the hay crops, such as clover, cowpeas, or alfalfa.

Furthermore, corn makes an excellent quality of silage. The legumes, such as clover and alfalfa, are liable to rot unless special care is taken to pack the silage thoroughly and force the air out. The only objection which has been raised concerning corn silage is the fact that it contains insufficient protein fully to meet the requirements of animals to which it may be fed. The best variety of corn to plant is that which will mature and yield the largest amount of grain to the acre, since the grain is the most valuable part of the corn plant. The variety commonly raised in any particular locality for grain will also be the most satisfactory to grow for silage, be chopped before siloing as a matter of convenience in feeding and also to secure more thorough packing, although it can be placed in the silo without chopping. Clover should be harvested when in full bloom and some of the first heads are dead.

Cowpeas, alfalfa, and soy beans can be successfully made into silage by exercising the same precautions as with clover. They should be cut at the same time as for haymaking. However, it is ordinarily preferable, as with clover, to make them into hay rather than silage. The fermentations which takes place in silage made of legumes cause a great loss of nutritive material than with corn silage. Corn husks and pea vines from canning factories, beet pulp, and other by-products are also used in certain localities for filling the silo.

Corn for the silo can be cut either by hand or by machine. Hand cutting is practiced on farms where the amount of corn to be harvested is so small as to make the expense of purchasing a corn harvester too great to justify its use. Hand cutting is slow and laborious, and there are probably few localities now where the purchase of a harvester would not be a profitable investment.

There are on the market several makes of silage cutters that will give satisfaction. The capacity of the machine to be purchased is an important consideration which should not be overlooked. Many persons make the mistake of getting a cutter which is too small, thus making the operation of filling the silo very slow and interfering with the continuous employment of the entire force of men. It is better to get a machine large enough, so that every one will be able to keep busy all the time. The larger cutters are equipped with self-feeders, a labor-saving device which the smaller sizes lack.

from one-half to 1-inch. The latter is considered a little too long, since pieces of this length will neither pack so closely in the silo nor be so completely consumed when fed as will be shorter lengths. On the other hand, the longer the pieces the more rapidly can the corn be run through the cutter.

In case the corn has become too dry or ripe before it is put into the silo, water should be added to supply the deficiency of moisture necessary to make the silage pack properly. Unless it is well packed the silage will "fire-fang" or deteriorate through the growth of mold. Enough water should be added to restore the moisture content of the corn to what it would be if cut at the proper stage. The water may be added by running directly into the silo by means of a hose or by running through the blower. It is claimed that by running it into the blower the water is more thoroughly mixed with the cut corn.

TWO WOMEN FIGHT FOR SAME CHILD

Court Will Decide on Rightful Motherhood in Case in Superior Court in Indianapolis.

NURSE MAY BE PRODUCED

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, June 11.—The spectacle of two women claiming motherhood of the same child may again be presented here if Judge Collier in superior court overrules the demurrer to a complaint. He now has under advisement arguments on the demurrer, and is expected to decide the matter the latter part of this week or the first of next.

In her complaint, Mrs. Leona A. Battly declares that a 4-year-old child she calls Bernard R. Battly, Jr., is the son of her former husband, Bernard R. Battly, and she asks that the court establish the legitimacy of the child and force Battly "Sr" to support him. In a previous decision after Mrs. Battly and a girl from Eaton both had laid claim to the child, the court ruled that the child was not the son of Mrs. Battly. At that time Battly asserted that Mrs. Battly had procured the child, assumed motherhood, all in hopes that by so doing she might win back his affection and persuade him to live with her.

Eph Imman, attorney for Mrs. Battly, asserts that there is new evidence that warrants a new trial. He says that the woman who served as nurse when the baby was born has been found. The Eaton girl's story was that the child was born to her while she was an inmate of the Door of Hope, a fondling institution here.

and have every style buggy known to the best vehicle builders in the country. We have large, roomy buggies that are low down and easy to get in and out of and then we have them for the young folks (we don't mean baby carriages) and middle aged people. In fact, we have buggies to meet every requirement of all kinds of buggy users. There is no use for us to tell you of their quality, perhaps you have already found that out by using one, or if not you can ask your neighbor and he will tell you how they wear. You take no chances when you buy from us because we guarantee every buggy we sell and guarantee it an honest one, and one that is always good. We believe that an honest guarantee gives us the good will of our customers and when a merchant loses the good will of his customers he is flirting with the commercial undertaker. Progressive Pork Barrel

It remains for the future to tell whether the Progressive party is willing to be separated from its pork barrel. There is a well organized movement to oust George W. Perkins, the man who formed the harvester trust and who has been actively identified with big business interests the last decade.

Perkins is a close personal friend of Theodore Roosevelt. He has already been at a conference at Sagamore Hill since the former president returned from his new river discovering trip in South America. It was common political rumor that Perkins furnished a good bit of the money with which Theodore Roosevelt made trips by special train across the country fighting to tear down the Republican party and establish the Progressive party.

Perkins said in the campaign of 1912 that he stood for the Progressive party and backed it with his money because he wanted to make this country a better place in which to rear his children. This comment was the subject of much ridicule. Some Progressives never have taken him seriously, and among those are the Pinchots. Amos Pinchot has just expressed his opinions. In an open letter to Perkins, who is chairman of the national executive committee of the party, Pinchot demands that he retire as chairman "for the good of the party."

Pinchot evidently thinks Perkins is not boosting the cause of Theodore Roosevelt for his health, nor to make this country a better place for his children to live in. Pinchot says Perkins favors the protection of private monopoly "and since the party's formation active steps have been taken to commit the party to that policy."

So it is a rather interesting quarrel as it stands. In the meantime the Republicans in the state are showing new life, and the Democrats are beginning to make plans for their campaign. On the whole, it is a very much mixed up situation. No one pretends to predict what will come out of it in November. The politicians in the state are all studying with considerable anxiety the following synopsis of figures from 1912 to 1914:

1912 votes for Governor, Republican, 444,105; Progressive, 393,183; 1914 enrollment Republican, 526,000; Progressive, 111,000.

The Progressives in Washington are of the opinion that no candidate the Progressives could put up in the state this fall, with the exception of Roosevelt himself, could hope to poll more than 100,000 votes. They admit that a showing of this sort in the Empire state would be the last of the Bull Moose party there.

Looking at the suggestion that Roosevelt lead the party this fall these Progressives point out that if he should fail of election, his hopes for 1916, if he still has any, would be blasted. It does seem to be a fact that the "true blue" Bull Moose—the really and truly loyal friends of Roosevelt—will advise him on his return from Spain to keep off the New York ticket. They think he ought to be in a position to make a sort of nation-wide speaking campaign this fall; they have a notion that if he should tie himself down to his own state "the cause" might suffer elsewhere.

Unless all the political prophets are mistaken, there is going to be a lot of maneuvering on the part of certain Bull Moose leaders to get back into the Republican party. It is apparent to most observers that the effort of the Progressive leaders at this time is to hold a reasonable number of their followers, so that they may have some basis for making terms with the party they left.

Federation of Women's Clubs Encourages Newspapers, According to Grace Julian Clarke

EVERY STATE IS "COVERED"

Publicity is Necessary When Civic and Social Reforms are Considered—Address at Chicago

(By United Press.)

Chicago, June 11.—Newspapers are steadily giving more and more space to women, and the press committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs is encouraging them in this—is seeking publicity—according to the report of Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke of Indianapolis to the general federation today. Mrs. Clarke is chairman of the press committee of the federation.

After outlining the system whereby every state in the union is "covered" by the press committee, Mrs. Clarke said:

"The steadily growing disposition on the part of the press to publish news of the General Federation, as well as the rapidly multiplying club departments in leading newspapers throughout the country, have abundantly justified our venture in seeking wider publicity."

Mrs. Clarke said that while the organization was of literary bent, devoted to self culture, there was little need of publicity, but that when the federation turned to civic and social reform publicity was necessary and wise.

"While this organization was composed almost entirely of literary clubs whose sole object was self-culture, there was no occasion for heralding abroad its performances, however creditable. Even when it entered upon a somewhat broader field and undertook to make itself felt as an educational force, it seemed sufficient to publish its activities in its own magazine and in the few state club organs. But when the General Federation turned its attention so largely to civic and social reform, when it became a potent influence in national legislative halls and began to be recognized as one of the active agencies for bringing about improved living conditions in the home but in the larger world outside—then the hour had struck for its systematic and dignified exploitation as one of the great formative and regenerative forces of our time," she said.

GIANTS BID FOR FOURTH PENNANT

If New York Captures Flag in National for Fourth Time it Will Establish Precedent

HANDED IT TO PITTSBURG

At Present Fight in American is Between Washington and Philadelphia—Quimet Looks Good

BY HAL SHERIDAN.

(Written for the United Press)

New York, June 11.—Unless the dope is all wrong, it is now generally conceded it will be New York or Pittsburgh in the National League and Philadelphia or Washington in the American.

The law of precedent appears to be the only thing at this writing, against which the McGraw Giants must back. No team in the National League has ever won four straight league pennants. Some years back, Fred Clark and his pirates were headed for their fourth successive streamer. The Giants scuttled the Corsair crew. Now the Pittsburghers are doing their damndest to return the compliment, but, though Clark has a grand little team, up to early in June it hadn't been there in the pinch.

The first rending, tearing clash with the Giants late in May when New York fairly routed the Pirates, and then the smearing the latter got at the hands of Charlie Horrox's resuscitated Cincinnatians, was an exhibition of the heart the Pittsburgh aggregation hasn't got or at least didn't have up to that time, and which is essential to running in front at the close of the 154-game schedule.

There was no other possible alibi. The Clark crew was in prime shape. It had ripped its way through all the other teams it had met. It had shown everything except what it could do when it backed above-the-average class. When that grade of class tore into Pittsburgh in the shape of the Giants, the erstwhile irresistible force was halted, stopped and stayed. And that's the dope in the National League. But it's pure dope.

Now for the fireworks in the American. What follows is not for Washingtonians to read. Everybody in the Capital has already picked out just where they're going to sit when in their own minds, the Senators meet the National League winners next fall. Any Washingtonian who reads this won't believe it. But it's DOPE.

It's perfectly true that Clark Griffith has Walter Johnson. There is also Mile-a-minute Milan, Base-Grabber Gandil, and others of their ilk, not to mention George McBride, who seldom causes any sparks, but who generally is conceded to be the greatest short-stop in the game today. But (and we must hedge once more behind the dope alibi) according to dope, Connie Mack has class he totes about the country with him. With the exception of his pitching staff, which had not come up to expectations. Early this month he has the same old crowd, doing the same old stunts.

Thus this Washington-Philadelphia argument simmer down to a comparison of the Griffithian-Mackian pitching departments. Bender is far from gone and there may be quite a few worrying splinters left in Plunk, but neither is what he used to be. Mack must depend on his younger pitchers, Bush, Shawey, Pennock, et al. for the brunt of his battle. Griffith has the winning Walter, Ayres, Shaw and Engel who have shown more stuff than the young Mack twirlers.

All in all, it must be conceded to the rabid Washington fan, that the Washington-Philadelphia fight for the first place should furnish as pretty a knock-down and drag-out as has ever been staged in either league.

Our golfers still have a chance to get back at the Britishers, but even if they don't, Francis Quimet will carry home with him and wear for one year the French title. After the young man's drubbing, with the drubbing given the other American golfers, at Sandwich, he crossed the channel and led the field in France. The open Championship in England furnishes another try for Quimet and the others. Here's hoping that when they heard Vardon and Ray and the other golfing lions in their homes, the Stars and Stripes will have better luck. To beat Vardon and Ray a second time will be more of a triumph than to have won at Sandwich.

The Sport of Kings is far from dead in Little Old New York and vicinity. This has been demonstrated at Belmont Park. Twelve months ago even the most sanguine could see nothing in the way of a come-back for the racing game. If the sport is kept in the wholesome condition in which it started, the "good old days" should return.

And speaking of come-backs, Cornell has done something in athletics this year. The winning of the Inter-collegiate at Harvard, which meant permanent possession of the coveted championship cup, was indeed a triumph. It was another triumph for Trainer Jack Moukley and his methods. Cornell also has shown her power on the diamond and on water. From present indications, the Ithicans should bring home the bacon at Poughkeepsie.

CASE IS REFERRED TO PARDON BOARD

Paul Walters of Jay County Convicted of Stealing Automobile, Depends on This for Acquittal.

TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, June 11.—Governor Ralston has referred to the pardon board the petition of Paul W. Walters, member of a prominent family of Jay county who has been convicted of stealing an auto of Victor Thornburg, a chauffeur of Union City. Temporary insanity is Walters' defense. On a recent visit to the Governor's office he told the Governor he didn't remember a thing that occurred during his wild ride from Union City to Bloomington following the theft. He drove the machine at high speed a distance of nearly 150 miles, though he now asserts he never before in his life had driven an automobile. He asserts that he is sane now.

Walters represented himself to be a prosperous North Dakota farmer looking for an automobile. He was driven into the country by the demonstrator, bound him to a tree, stuffed a handkerchief into his mouth and then drove away. He tried to sell the car for $100. The case attracted statewide attention.

CRIME RECALLED BY ANNIVERSARY

Fifty-one Years Passed Since John

Frank Stevens Was Killed From Ambush at Moscow.

WAS DURING THE REBELLION

The Greensburg News recalls that Tuesday was the fifty-first anniversary of a dastardly crime at Moscow, which resulted in talk of lynching the Moscow man who was suspected of the shooting. It happened during the rebellion. The government had passed a draft law after volunteers had been exhausted.

John Frank Stevens, a United States Deputy marshal pursuant to the order of the Government had gone to Moscow to enforce the draft law among a certain element that failed to heed their country's call in such a crisis. While in the discharge of this work he was assassinated, being shot from ambush. The cowardly assassin made his escape, but public suspicion rested upon certain people residing in that vicinity. There was no hushing of the threatened mob law, in case he could be caught, the older citizens recalling those stirring days, assert that reason would have been swept aside and the power of might, enforced by many, would have sent the ambusher to a quick end had he been caught.

MAY GO BEYOND THE LOCAL LAWS

Opinion by Attorney General Says State Fire Marshal Has Larger Powers Than Believed.

THE LAW IMPOSES THE DUTY

It is Possible For Him to Make Additional Requisitions if it's Found They're Needed.

In the opinion of the attorney general, Thomas M. Honan, the State fire marshal is empowered by law to go beyond the local ordinances and regulations pertaining to fire preventive measures in any community, and, if he deems it necessary, make further provisions and regulations.

This interpretation of the fire marshal law was sought in order to define clearly the State fire marshal's authority in prescribing such regulations, since the need for such action frequently arises.

Attorney General Honan's opinion is emphatic in defining the fire marshal's authority and has the backing of a similar opinion given recently by Attorney General Carnody of New York.

"The State fire marshal law," says Mr. Honan in his opinion, "gives the marshal large powers and imposes upon him duties that are compulsory with reference to the prevention of fires. Section two specifically provides that the State fire marshal shall enforce all laws of the State and the ordinances of the various cities and towns in Indiana with reference to the prevention of fires, storage, sale and use of combustibles and explosives, and installation and maintenance of automatic or other fire alarm systems and fire extinguishing equipments, and the suppression of arson and investigation of the cause, origin and circumstances of fires."

"This section refers wholly to the laws of the State, and the ordinances of the municipalities, and in addition the law also requires the fire marshal to investigate the cause, origin and circumstance of every fire, and further empowers said fire marshal to make regulations pertaining thereto, which are additional to the ordinances of the various municipalities."

"In other words, it is not only the duty of the fire marshal to enforce all the ordinances of the various municipalities as he finds them, but it is also his duty to make regulations pertaining to fire prevention, and to enforce these regulations with the same degree of certainty that he enforces local ordinances."

"Should the fire marshal conclude that a local ordinance does not fully cover matters pertaining to fire prevention, then in addition to requiring persons to comply with said local ordinances, they can also be compelled to comply with any additional and further regulations which the fire marshal shall deem necessary."

This interpretation of the law shows that not only has the fire marshal the power and authority to make and enforce new regulations in any community, but, also, that it is his duty to do so.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

FOR THE MAID WHO SWIMS AND HER SMALL SISTER

Perhaps no garment in the summer wardrobe requires more care and attention than the bathing suit, whether for swimming or just a dip with a hand on the rope.

Materials for these suits should be chosen with the greatest care, especially if they are intended for an entire season's service. Satin sheds water and looks well; moire and taffetas are excellent too if a very good quality is used otherwise both will prove unsatisfactory. Cravenette mohair is one of the most satisfactory materials for the bathing suit. It is shown in the suit illustrated here (7631), with collar and trimming bands of a striped silk. The suit is in drop-shoulder style, closing at the side front and has a three-piece skirt. For size 36, this model requires 5 1/2 yards of 36-inch material.

It is well to protect the little tot who merely paddles and plays around the beach with a thin flannel which may be brightened with narrow mohair braid and colored buttons.

This little suit (8377) is developed in dark blue flannel and trimmed with scarlet wool braid and red bone buttons. Underwaist and bloomers are in one piece and the blouse is in long-waisted effect with a low-hung, braid trimmed belt of the material. For a child of eight, this design requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch flannel.

STATE OWES NEW HARMONY MUCH

Governor Ralston Speaks of Indiana's Debt to Pioneers at Centennial Celebration.

PRAISES ROBERT DALE OWEN

Finds Much to Commend in Teachings of This Worshiper at the Shrine Truth.

New Harmony, Ind., June 11.—The heat yesterday almost spoiled the celebration of Indiana day at the centennial here. Senators Kern and Shively were billed to speak, but were unable to come. There was a large crowd of people, but very few heard Governor Ralston, who cut his speech half in two. He spoke of the debt Indiana owes New Harmony.

"I understand," the governor declared, "you have designated this day as Indiana day in your celebration. I deem it very appropriate to inquire if as a state we have to any extent shaped our course by any of the teachings of Robert Owen. We have his word for it that he was anxious to eliminate ignorance and selfishness—a most laudable ambition we will admit, but one that calls for the changing of human nature as certainly as would the consummation of his desire to remove all cause for contest between individuals.

"But I am not to criticize. I prefer on Indiana day to find something to commend in the teachings of this worshiper at the shrine of truth—this apostle of equality, liberty and fraternity. And here is something he has said that the citizens of a free government, where the voice of the people is all powerful, should take to heart if he wants to see man's condition improved:

"The religion of truth teaches the science of the influence of circumstances over human nature; and that good and rational circumstances will produce good and rational men and women, while inferior or bad circumstances as certainly produce inferior, bad and irrational men and women."

"Indiana has recognized the soundness of this principle in the enactment of her housing law by the last Legislature. When she passed this law she did not look to the comfort only of the occupants of the tenements, but she had in mind also the development of their morals and the building of their characters. She believed that the water they drank, the air they breathed and the home and social comforts they enjoy bore directly upon the citizenship they developed.

"And when Indiana observes, before long, public health or clean-up day, as it is planned to do, when with propriety pay respect to the memory of Robert Owen. Thomas Jefferson wanted to be remembered as the author of the Declaration of American Independence, as the author of the statutes of Virginia and as the father of the University of Virginia. Every board of health is a recognition of Robert Owen as a public benefactor. His doctrine of environment alone makes his fame forever secure.

"But you may toss to the winds everything Robert Owen ever taught as faulty and hurtful to society and still he will retain a warm place in the hearts of Indiana people, even unto the latest generations. His four brilliant and public spirited sons will keep his memory fresh in this state.

"As a member of Indiana's constitutional convention of 1850, Robert Dale Owen rendered services of inestimable value to the public. His father was widely known as the founder of infant schools, the opponent of child labor, and the pioneer in this country of rational education; and this in a way added strength to the son in his advocacy of constitutional recognition of the rights of women and the great principle of free schools, of education 'without money and without price' as they were embodied in the organic law of our state.

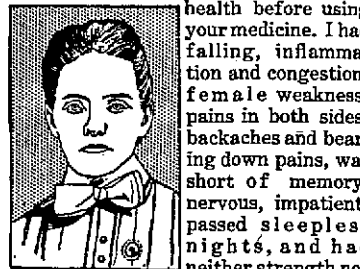

"In the legislation following the adoption of our present constitution he was the knightly leader in securing to woman through statutory enactments what in morals and justice were her property rights, and then he proceeded to shield her against undue entreaty and influence by making non-enforceable her contracts of surety. Upon his brilliant achievements in these respects the London Times paid him the tribute of saying, 'Indiana has attained the highest civilization of any state in the Union.' And, my friends, I like to believe, that in all the twelve years that have followed this declaration of the London Times, our beloved state has not lost her proud position in the sisterhood of states.

"Duty to society and to the state meant more to him than did loyalty to party. This is why he was willing to abandon theories and surrender policies and stand with Lincoln, with whom he was not in sympathy politically, for the preservation of the Union. His letter appealing to the overburdened President for the liberation of the negro affected the latter as no other plea had done. It was thought by those who were in a position to know what the most potent personal influence moving the President to issue the emancipation argument in support of such a course."

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."

WILSON DEALS OUT SOME OPTIMISM

Secretary of Labor Predicts it will be "Menless Jobs, not Jobless Men" Very Soon

REASONS FOR HIS PROPHECY

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 11.—Secretary of Labor Wilson, sizing up the labor situation today said in the near future it would be "menless jobs not jobless men," through the United States. The calls for over 80,000 to harvest the bumper wheat crop that have reached his department, revival of the iron trade and stimulation of the mining and textile business were his reasons for the prophecy.

Wilson said he is planning to arrange with the railroads for special excursions to the wheat belt, giving men in the east and middle west an equal chance with those who are now in the west.

"Such a plan would give thousands of men a chance for a rural vacation with plenty of money," he said.

WILLIAM RICHEY DEAD AT MILROY

Well Known Resident There Passed Away Yesterday Following Operation Some Weeks Ago.

FUNERAL WILL BE SATURDAY

William Braeken Richey, 63 years old, a well known resident of Milroy, died yesterday afternoon at his home there, following a long illness. Several weeks ago Mr. Richey underwent an operation at the Sexton sanatorium for gall stones, but improved but little. He was removed to his home last week and gradually became worse until his death was expected. Mr. Richey had never married and made his home with his sister.

WEDDING TODAY VERY BRILLIANT

Miss Belle Wyatt Willard and Kermit Roosevelt Are United in Marriage at Madrid, Spain.

CEREMONY IS AT HIGH NOON

Spanish Officialdom and Aristocracy, Together with Diplomatic Corps, Are Guests.

(By United Press.)

Madrid, Spain, June 11.—A brilliant gathering comprising the elite of Spanish officialdom and aristocracy, together with practically all the members of the diplomatic corps and their ladies, witnessed the marriage today of Miss Belle Wyatt Willard, daughter of Joseph E. Willard, American Ambassador to Spain, and Kermit Roosevelt, son of Col. Roosevelt, ex-President of the United States. The bridegroom's father came over from New York to attend the wedding. The ceremony, which took place at noon in the British Embassy Chapel, was performed by the Rev. Herbert Brown, chaplain of the British Embassy in Madrid. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Willard, as maid of honor, and by the following bridesmaids: Her Serene Highness the Princess Folla of Thurn and Taxis, daughter of Prince Ratibor, of German Ambassador in Madrid; Miss Katherine Page, daughter of the American Ambassador in London; Mlle. Genevieve de Villiers, of Paris, and Miss Virginia Christian, of Richmond, Va. Following a brief honeymoon on the Continent, the young couple will leave for Brazil to establish their future home at San Paulo, where Kermit Roosevelt is engaged in the railroad business.

The bride, now 21, was one of the most attractive girls in the younger social set at Richmond, the family home of the Willards, where she made her debut two years ago. While en route with her mother and younger sister last February to join her father at his new post she was presented at the Court of St. James in London, and upon her arrival here she quickly became a general favorite in Spanish society. Kermit Roosevelt, 24 years old, has seen considerably more of the world than usually falls to the lot of young men of his age. After returning from the big game hunt in Africa with his father in 1910 he went out West on a mountain sheep shooting expedition. Following his graduation from Harvard in 1912 he made a visit in England and later took up railroad work in South America. Last winter he accompanied Col. Roosevelt on his hunting, exploring, and river-discovering trip in the Amazon country, coming direct from Brazil to this city, where he arrived three weeks ago. Kermit met his future wife through the good offices of his sister Mrs. Richard Derby, then Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who had become a great chum of Miss Willard's during a sojourn at Hot Springs, Va. Ethel took her new friend to Oyster Bay, where Kermit speedily fell a victim to her charms.

NEW YORK MEN FURNISH MONEY

Representative Ainey Says Constitutionalists Will be Amply Rewarded if They Win.

HOLDS HUERTA BLAMELESS

(By United Press.)

Seattle, Wash., June 11.—"The state department has a trunk full of Mexican consular reports detailing Constitutionalists victories. If published, the government would not be permitted to espouse the cause of the Constitutionalists."

Representative Ainey of Pennsylvania, one of the principal congressional critics of the Wilson administration Mexican policy, made this statement here today on his arrival on his way to the coast for a trip to Japan.

"There is really no reason to believe General Huerta cannibal in the assassination of President Madero," he said.

BOMB EXPLODED BY SUFFAGETTES

Touch it Off Under Coronation Chair in Westminster Abbey and Stone of Scone Was Chipped.

IT IS A PRE-HISTORIC RELIC

(By United Press.)

London, Eng., June 11.—Suffragettes today exploded a bomb under the Coronation chair in Westminster Abbey. It is reported that the Stone of Scone was chipped, but that otherwise no serious damage was done.

No arrests of the suffragettes were made. The police at once threw a cordon around the famous abbey, but so far as is known no arrests have been made by them.

The Stone of Scone is the most famous relic of pre-historic days. The explosion was heard in parliament.

Some Words.

"Panle" is named after the ancient god Pan because of the sudden and unreasoning fear which the sight of this heathen divinity was supposed to inspire. Other common words with a similar source in the old mythologies are "volcanite," from Vulcan, the blacksmith; "martial," for Mars, the warrior; "Jovial," from Jove; "saturnine," from Saturn, and "mercurial," from Mercury, the nimble heeled.

Strange Neglect.

"There's one thing, though," said the stranger, "that I really cannot understand."

"What's that?" asked the old settler.

"Nobody around here has assured me that this is the garden spot of the state."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Chile's Walled Lake.

In the Chilean Andes there is a lake 10,000 feet up in the mountains which is prevented only by a granite wall a few feet thick from devastating the valley below.

Disconcerting.

It is disconcerting when you have paid out $500 for a violin and $40 for a bow to find that you can't make a squeak on the blamed thing without a ten cent piece of rosin.
